

What is claimed is:

5

1. A method of establishing a system of a secondary market for disbursement information characterized in that said disbursement information reflecting expenditures represents information about expected purchases or purchase plan information; said purchase plan information is quantified; the value of said purchase plan information is set in a common monetary unit; said purchase plan information is converted to bonds, warrants, or securities, said bonds, warrants or securities comprising the right to receive said purchase plan information; said purchase plan information is sold, bought or brokered at a secondary market provided for information; said purchase plan information is brokered at auction under appropriate conditions of the auction to facilitate its distribution; and the value of said purchase plan information is increased by using said information for operation in said market for better returns.

2. A method as in claim 1 wherein said secondary market for information comprises an online internet auction.

3. A method of establishing a system of a secondary market for disbursement information characterized in that information about spending represents purchase plan information; said purchase plan information is quantified; a value for said purchase plan information is set in a common monetary unit; said purchase plan information is converted to bonds, warrants, or securities said bonds, stocks or securities comprising a right to purchase plan information; said purchase plan information is entrusted with an information distribution system and is sold, bought, brokered or used for operation through said system; said purchase plan information bears interest; a bidder at auction who has made a successful bid on said purchase plan information is liable for payment; and the value of said purchase plan information is increased by using said information for operation in said market for better returns.

4. A method of establishing a secondary market for disbursement information of nations, businesses and individuals comprising, quantifying the disbursement information in monetary units as purchase plan information;

5 converting the purchase plan information to bonds, warrants or securities, said bonds, warrants or securities representing a right to the purchase plan information;

entrusting the purchase plan information bonds, warrants or securities with an information distribution system wherein purchase plan information is sold, 10 purchased, brokered, or bears interest; and auctioning purchase plan information in the information distribution system. thereby establishing a secondary market for disbursement information, to increase its value and improve returns.

15 5. A method as in claim 4 wherein said information distribution system is the internet.

6. A method as in claim 4, wherein at least one firm provides goods or services to at least one of said nations, businesses and individuals, said firm having 20 its own disbursement information that corresponds to the goods or services provided to said at least one of the nations, businesses and individuals, and further comprising the steps of quantifying the firm's disbursement information in monetary units as purchase plan information;

25 converting the firm's purchase plan information to bonds, warrants or securities, said bonds, warrants or securities representing a right to the firm's purchase plan information; and entrusting the firm's purchase plan information bonds, warrants or securities with said information distribution system wherein purchase plan 30 information is sold, purchased, brokered, or bears interest.